Professor David Walker has been teaching at ODU since 1999. He is Director of Percussion Studies, Drumline Instructor for the Marching Band, and teaches Undergraduate Instrumental Conducting. He regularly performs with the Virginia Symphony and is Percussion Instructor for the Governor's School for the Arts. In the past Mr. Walker co-taught the Old Dominion University New Music Ensemble, as well as founded and directed the percussion group Stick People. He received a Bachelor of Performance degree from Wheaton Conservatory of Music and a Master of Music Performance from The University of Michigan. He and his wife, Christy, have eight children—Matthew, Christopher, Emily, Michael, Bethany, Jeremiah, Mary, and Rebekah.

Charlee Eaves earned her Bachelor's in Music Education from ODU in 2010 and her M.M.E. in 2014, under the mentorship of Dennis Zeisler. While still completing her degree, Charlee was a finalist in the Young Artist's Competition held annually at ODU and after graduating performed as a soloist with the ODU Percussion Ensemble. She is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda and is currently the principal alto sax of the Virginia Wind Symphony, having performed with them since 2008. She has taught at several schools in the area, with her most recent position at Nansemond-Suffolk Academy as the director of bands, leaving in the fall of 2016 to be home with her first son. Charlee now substitutes when needed and teaches private music lessons out of her home in Smithfield. She and her husband, Pierson, are expecting their second son in February.
