Meet the Natives
People

Old Dominion University may be known as a diverse school, but the students are the true factors involved in said diversity. People of all cultural backgrounds have come together to form ties of friendship that nothing can tear apart. Whether they meet through a fraternity/sorority, in class, freshmen preview, or even just passing by each other while wandering the campus, Old Dominion students are not to be taken lightly. No matter where you come from, or what you've been through, Monarchs will help each other out through thick and thin. Our pride comes from knowing who we are and where we are going. So no matter what adventure is thrown before you just remember you are not alone, lift your head up, and pound through those roadblocks with your fellow Lion pride.
There's a lot of places on campus that few people go to. You'd be surprised at some of the facilities available. Have you ever been to the PERI Labs? How about the Art Library? Chances are, if your major doesn't take you far out of the way you'll never see some of the more interesting places on campus. Now might be a good time to take a few days to just tour the campus. Go in every building. Check out every floor. Just don't get locked in the Environmental Containment rooms in the Oceanography and Physical Science building!
Have you been here before?

ODU is a big place, and not everyone gets out much. With this in mind we sent some of our more adventurous photographers out to find the more interesting and out of the way places on campus. Take a guess where these pictures were taken, then test your hypothesis by looking on page 192 for the answers. No peeking!
Guess the building

This is an easy answer – but for any of you who don’t know, which is unlikely, look for the answer on page 192.

TOP NINE PICK-UP LINES THAT YOU SHOULDN’T USE!

I lost my phone number... Can I have yours?
You with all those curves and me with no brakes!
The word of the day is legs... let’s go back to my place and spread the word!
If you right leg was Thanksgiving and your left leg was Christmas; could I visit between the holidays?
I lost my teddybear... can I sleep with you!
Did it hurt when you feel from heaven?
Do you believe in love at first sight or do I have to walk by you again?
I just wanna know you’re name!
What’s your sign?

AND THE ONE YOU SHOULD!

You’re so beautiful!

104 People Ha-Ho
Its hard to go wrong making your own sandwich now isn't it? Apply your own skills to the food making process, and you'd be surprised what can happen. Roast beef, pickles and saurkrout? Not a problem here...

One evening in the Whitehurst dorm, I went down to catch dinner. They were serving breakfast for dinner, so I knew everything was at least fresh. Knowing this, I arrived early to avoid the rush. Much to my surprise the cafeteria was the most empty I had ever seen it. “Bonus!,” I said to myself as I began to quench my hunger. To my horror, as I drew closer to the abandoned eatery, I learned the reason for the absence of people. The stench of a backed up drainage system grew more powerful with every painful step. Every particle of food and every bit of trash the cafeteria had disposed of in the drain was welling up through the floor vents.

My hunger reaching ravenous, I decided to brave the thick odor to get sustenance. Someone before me had apparently also tried to be brave; he or she had failed. After avoiding the goop they had left on the floor, I quickly attained my meal and made a run for my room. The meal itself, of course, turned out to be quite tasty.

Salad Bar? Cole Slaw? The last person that crossed the Amish Mafia? You be the judge.
The University Library provides a full complement of state-of-the-art services for all clientele. It contains over 2 million items—monographs, government publications, periodicals and serials, microforms, musical scores, recordings, electronic resources, and maps—which are currently accessible through an on-line catalog produced by Innovative Interfaces, Inc. Catalog workstations are located throughout the Library. The catalog can be searched from remote locations on the campus and off campus, via modem or the Internet.

Many other electronic resources are also available via the Internet, including over 100 searchable databases provided through the Virtual Library of Virginia (VIVA). Certain resources are available from workstations in the Reference Department: CD-ROM indexes to journal literature; government publications and statistics on CD-ROM; ProQuest databases which offer indexing to general, business, and academic research publications; and on-line database searching through DIALOG. Interlibrary loan services with on-line access to the collections of more than 10,000 libraries throughout the world are available to faculty and students from the Interlibrary Loan Office.

The library’s collections are organized by the Library of Congress classification: circulating books are located on the third and fourth floors; periodicals and microforms on the second; reference, government publications, circulation, and reserves on the first floor. The Administrative Offices are housed on the second floor, with Bibliographic Services on the fourth and Systems Development on the first. Photocopy machines are located on all floors. A photocopy service is available on the second floor for those not wanting to use the coin/card operated machines; microformat duplication services are available in the areas where these collections are housed.

When students had something to say, James Toscano was always willing to listen.

James served not only on the Board of Visitors, but he also acted as an advocate for the students to Vice President Dana Burnet.

Getting out and seeing what was going on was one of the things James Toscano prided himself on. That meant braving the frigid temperatures to watch the powder puff football game that was put on for homecoming.

In addition to being a student leader, James Toscano was also the general manager of the campus radio station, WODU 1570 AM. As a head of one of the media outlets, James was in an excellent position to keep up with the students' interests.

The Office of Computing and Communications Services (OCCS) maintains a leadership role in Old Dominion University's dedication to providing technology-intensive disciplines that will help students thrive and survive in the 21st century. With responsibility for consultation, support, and maintenance for all computing technology for Old Dominion University, OCCS is committed to delivering the high quality computer, information processing and telecommunications services.

The Customer Service Center, located in Hughes Hall, is the central point of contact to the Office of Computing and Communications Services.
How do you warm people up when it’s below freezing outside? Give away free tickets to the Fuel concert of course. Three lucky girls won the tickets from WODU after the powder puff football game.

Editing copy can be a grueling task. With his red marker in hand, Daniel Kertesz, our faithful copy editor, looks over the pages of this very book.

One of the busier people involved in the ODU student media is Dan Kim. Dan worked as both a writer and photographer on the staffs of The Laureate and The Mace & Crown.
The Road To Success

If at first you don’t succeed, look in the trash for instructions. (unknown)

One is successful when they can lay a firm foundation with bricks thrown at them by others. (unknown)

The secret of success is to know something nobody else knows. (Aristotle Onassis)

If you succeed in all you do, it’s a sure sign you’re not reaching high enough. (Unknown)

If at first you don’t succeed, then skydiving isn’t for you. (Unknown)

If at first you don’t succeed, redefine success. (Unknown)
On September 24th a hypnotist made his appearance at ODU, and did a show in the Mills Godwin Building. He attempted to hypnotize 9 people and successfully hypnotized 6 of them.

"Anyone can get hypnotized except for idiots and morons." He also said that hypnotism is completely voluntary if you don't want to get hypnotized he can't make you "Otherwise I'd be at a bank right now and not at a college doing a show."

One hour of hypnotism is as refreshing as 10 hours of sleep. The hypnotist made it clear that he would not try to get anyone to tell their deepest darkest secrets, or do anything inappropriate, that he would stop anyone from doing anything embarrassing. He also said that hypnosis is like sleep; people come in and out of it and he has to manage that during the course of the show.

During the show, the entertainer guy had everyone drinking laughing juice and then when they ran out they went to get more, on the way they out ran a cop. He also had everyone pretend to be watching a horse race and root for the different horses.

Chris Jenkins stole the show when he was pretending to be Clinton where he said he “liked to smoke crack in the parking lot.” After the show, Chris said the whole hypnosis experience was totally real!

Inside or out, the maintenance crew does a good job at ODU. They deserve our thanks for making our campus an attractive place to visit.
THE PAGE OF XENU!!

Who is Xenu?
Xenu is an evil alien god, currently he is orbiting the planet in his spaceship and定期 communicates with the citizens of earth via WODU on Monday Nights 11-1.

Why Would Xenu Want to talk to you?
Because you as stupid humans are a never-ending source of entertainment. We enjoy calling you stupid humans and ranting about your many failures.

Things that Annoy Xenu:
1. Humans
2. Student Senate
3. Super 8
4. Non-Hot Sorority Girls
5. Frats that run out of beer at 11:00 P.M.
6. The fools at ODU financial aid

Things that Please Xenu:
1. Disintegrating Stupid Humans
2. Ranting
3. 80's Pop Songs
4. Hot Sorority Girls
5. CNU Frats
6. Leprechauns

Why You should Fear Xenu:
Death Rats, lots of them. Who is the Prophet of Xenu?

People: Xenu
So who is Xenu? No one is truly certain, but all sane people fear his presence. It's rumored that on Monday nights from 11pm-1am that you could see the death-rays emanating from the WODU studios on the second floor of Webb Center. Since our office is next door to WODU, and we worked many late nights to finish this book, I was once witness to this awesome display of power. It is also rumored that Xenu was connected to Angry MOBI, but this was never proven...
